

ON COVID-19

Like most businesses, Morrison is focused on the well-being of our team and clients during this time. Much of our work has always been done remotely, and almost all can be, enabling us to serve our clients with minimal disruption. And while we're missing seeing people as much, we have the tools and experience to serve in this challenging time.

Please feel free to reach out if you find yourself with questions, or just need a friendly voice to chat with. And no, you won't get a bill just for a chat and sharing some thoughts. We want to stay close (figuratively, of course).

Here's how we can help in our major service lines. Also, check out morrisonco.net/blog, where we will post regular updates.

BUSINESS & ACCOUNTING ADVISORY

Business and accounting challenges are taking many forms. Fluctuations in sales, receivables, accounting staffing, and other critical matters are impacting liquidity, working capital, loan covenant compliance, working with lenders, and other areas. And it is more critical than ever to model and plan for a variety of scenarios so as to not be caught short. We are happy to share ideas on meeting these challenges and others we have helped with. Please feel free to reach out to Brent Morrison, Managing Principal, at bmorrison@morrisonco.net with any questions.

PEOPLE SOLUTIONS

It is challenging to know how to navigate the uncertainty that has come with the pandemic and the impacts of stay-in-place orders, business closures, a lack of childcare, and others. We're here if you have any questions or need help understanding new regulations such as the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA), the impact on compliance with the Family Medical Leave Act, or how to best manage people related issues. Please see our blog on navigating the FFCRA and a link to a required poster at morrisonco.net/blog/FFCRA. Also, feel free to reach out to Shawn Miller, Principal, at smiller@morrisonco.net with any questions.

GRANTS

Though it is unlikely that new grant programs will be launched in the immediate future specifically to address coronavirus impacts, granting agencies like USDA, CDEA, CalRecycle, the California Energy Commission and others are continuing to release and administer regular grant programs, which we are continuing to prepare applications for. Many of these programs may be able to fund initiatives that you might otherwise have to put on hold as a result of the coronavirus. If you have any questions on prospective grants or help putting together grant reimbursement requests or other reports for grants in progress, feel free to reach out to Toni Scott, Principal, at tscott@morrisonco.net with any questions.